

Professional Certificate in Brand Design and Digital Marketing (PBDDM)

Develop structured brand identity and digital positioning capability to improve market differentiation, credibility, and strategic visibility

WHY BRAND STRATEGY MATTERS

Strengthen identity clarity and build disciplined market positioning capability

In competitive markets, brand perception directly influences trust, purchasing decisions, and long-term sustainability. However, many organisations approach branding as visual design rather than structured strategic positioning.

Strong brands require clarity of purpose, consistency of communication, and alignment between identity and audience expectations.

This certificate programme strengthens structured brand capability and equips professionals with frameworks that connect identity, positioning, and digital execution to measurable business impact.

PROGRAMME OVERVIEW
